Generation No. 2

2. JOHN² BUSHROT (BUSHROT¹) died 1589 in Sherborn, Dorset, England. He married MARGERY FELTONS 07 Oct 1571. She died 1599 in Sherborne, Dorset (Source: It has not been proved that this death date refer to this Margery Bushrod, but its likely.).

Notes for JOHN BUSHROT:

Will proved May 5, 1590

John Bushrot is described in his Will as a husbandman from Sherborne in Dorset. A husbandman is a person who cultivates crops and breeds and raises livestock. This description is appropriate as his Will contains bequests for 8 acres of various crops, 36 sheep, and a young cow.

Under the terms of the Will his wife Margery received the use of the estate for three years and thereafter received the residue of the estate. If she remarried within the three-year period, then the overseers of the estate were directed to shift the benefit of the assets described in the specific bequests for the children from Margery to the children.

The Will contained the following bequests for their children:

- John received 8 acres of crops, a wagon, a featherbed which originally belonged to John Bushrot's father (no name is provided), ten sheep, various household items, including a silver spoon, and his father's clothing, except for his best coat, which he had to wait for three years before he could wear.

- Richard received £5, ten sheep, and a silver spoon.
- Robert received £5, ten sheep, and a silver spoon.
- Margery received £6, 13 shillings, and 4 pence, but no sheep or silver spoon.

The son, John, was to receive his bequest three years after his father's death, perhaps because he would soon be 21 years old. The younger children had to wait three years to receive the benefit of their bequests, and they would not get full possession until the earlier of getting married or becoming 21 years old. If any child died before taking possession of their bequest, then the bequest would be divided equally among the remaining children.

The will also contains a bequest of two sheep for a god son "John Waye", two sheep for "Charles Wiffin", two young sheep for "Luce Dowle", three shillings and four pence for "John Yetman", and two shillings for the parish church of Sherborne.

11. JOHN⁵ BUSHROD (RICHARD⁴, RICHARD³, JOHN² BUSHROT, BUSHROT¹) was born 30 Jan 1661/62 in Gloucester, Va, and died 06 Feb 1719/20 in Westmoreland, Co., VA. He married HANNAH KEENE Abt. 1688 in Westmoreland Co., VA, daughter of WILLIAM JNR. and ELIZABETH ROGERS. She was born 04 Feb 1676/77 in Northumberland Co., Va, and died 26 Dec 1738 in Westmoreland Co., Va "Bushfield".

Notes for JOHN BUSHROD:

"At Bushfield, Wet'd Co., the tomb of John Bushrod bore this inscription: 'Herelies the body of John Bushrod, gentleman, son of Richard Bushrod, gentleman, by Apphia his wife. He was born in Gloucester Co., Va., the 30th of Jan'y, 1663. He took for his wife Hannah, the daughter of William Keene of Northumberland, and Elizabeth his wife, and by her he left two sons and four daughters, and died the 6th of Feb'y, 1719, in the 56th year of his age.' (M., II., 151.)" (Virginia Genealogies, p 636, On-Line Genealogy Library database)

The appearance of the name "Washington" in the list of persons buried at Bushfield provides a tantalizing clue to some interesting family connections. Hannah Bushrod was not the only child of John Bushrod (1663-1719) and Hannah Keene (1676-1739). They also had a son named Col. John Bushrod (1712-1760), whose third wife was Mildred Corbin (1720-1785). Their daughter was named Hannah Bushrod (1738-1804). She was the niece of the Hannah Bushrod who married Adam Crump. On April 14, 1756, she married John Augustine Washington (January 13, 1735/1736-January 8, 1787), the brother of President George Washington (February 22, 1732-December 14, 1799). Prior to that, this Hannah Bushrod was mistress at Mount Vernon during George Washington's bachelorhood. Hannah inherited Bushfield in 1760 upon the death of her father, Col. John Bushrod. All of Hannah and John Augustine Washington children were born at Bushfield. They had a son, Bushrod Washington (June 5, 1762 – November 26, 1829), who fought in the American Revolution and was a member of the Virginia House of Delegates. He was also a member of the Virginia convention that in 1788 adopted the Constitution. On February 4, 1799, he became an associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court. In 1801, he inherited Bushfield upon the death of his mother. He sold it in 1804 and moved to Mount Vernon, which he inherited after Martha Washington's death. He was one of the executors of George Washington's estate, and he also received the following specific bequest:

To my nephew Bushrod Washington, I give and bequeath all the Papers in my possession which relate to my Civil and Military Administration of the affairs of this Country; I leave to him also such of my private papers as are worth preserving; and at the decease of my wife, and before; if she is not inclined to retain them, I give and bequeath my Library of books, and pamphlets of every kind.

Hannah and John Augustine Washington had two daughters, Jenny Corbin Washington (d. 1791) and Mildred Washington. Jenny Washington, who was called Jane, married William Augustine Washington, the son of her father's half brother Augustine Washington. The youngest child of Hannah and John Augustine Washington was Corbin Washington (1764-December 10, 1799). Corbin married Hannah Lee (1765–November 23, 1801) on May 10, 1787 at Bushfield. She was the daughter of Richard Henry Lee, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. Corbin Washington had lived for many years at Walnut Farm, originally a part of the Bushfield farm in Westmoreland County, but by October of 1799, he was living at a home called Selby in Fairfax County (WAYLAND [1], 125). The following entry was recorded for November 5, 1799 in George Washington's diary (Diaries, 6:374):

5th. Morning and the whole day calm--clear & pleasant. Set out on a trip to Difficult-run to view some Land I had there & some belonging to Mr. Jno. Gill who had offered it to me in discharge of Rent which he was owing me. Dined at Mr. Nicholas Fitzhughs and lodged at Mr. Corbin Washingtons

Oddly, Corbin died a month later on December 10th and George died four days later. There is no mention of Corbin's death in Washington's diary, and he may have been unaware that Corbin had passed. Corbin was listed as an executor for and a beneficiary of George Washington's estate, however, his death four days prior to George made these provisions moot.

(Note: George and Martha Washington had no children, thus his property passed to his nephews and nieces and their descendants).

John Bushrod and Hannah Keene also had a daughter named Elizabeth Bushrod, who married William Meriwether. His father, Nicholas Meriwether II, was the great great grandfather of Meriwether Lewis, the Lewis of the Lewis and Clark Expedition.

John Bushrod and Hannah Keene had another daughter named Apphia (who was named after her grandmother, Apphia Hughes, who married William Fauntleroy).

Notes for ELIZABETH BUSHROD:

"No direct evidence has been found proving that Richard's wife Elizabeth was infact the daughter of Richard Bushrod, but family genealogist over the years have been in almost universal agreement that this was her identity. . .This presumption is based on the fact that her younger son was named 'Bushrod,' a most unusual name which occurs only in descendants of the Bushrod family. . .Apphia isa given name of great rarity at that time and place, and clearly supports the inference that Elizabeth was a daughter of Apphia Bushrod." In Charles Chilton's 24Aug 1739 will no mention of Elizabeth.

Notes for RICHARD DOGGETT:

"Richard Doggett was the second surviving son of the Rev. Benjamin Doggett andhis wife Jane, and the first of their children born in Virginia.

He is believed to have been born about 1672. As the parish register of Christ Church Parish in Lancaster county has been lost, no documentary evidence of his birth date exists. However, Rev. Benjamin, in his will refers to his '2 sons born in Virginia,' and his birth does not appear in the register of Hadleigh parish in Suffolk, so we are sure that he was born after his mother came to Virginia to join her husband. Richard is named in his father's will as devisee of one hundred acres of land, being a part of the 350 acre plantation owned by his father. . . The will further provided that Richard, his brother William, and his sister Anne should live with their older brother Benjamin until they could live on their own, and there is some evidence in court records that Richard was in fact cared for by Benjamin. In February 1687/8, when Richard was about 15 years of age, Benjamin brought a lawsuit in Lancaster County Court against John Boatman, who married Jane Doggett after Rev. Benjamin's death, complaining that Boatman had broken a contract with Richard to pay him one-half of the crops produced by Richard laboring in the fields on Boatman's plantation, for the purpose of providing clothing for Richard's use. The court found that Boatman did in fact owe Richard a share of the corn and tobacco harvested, and ordered that it be delivered by Boatman to Benjamin so that clothing could be provided for Richard." Notes for CHARLES CHILTON:

Marriage "established by a suit in Lancaster County Court between Charles Chilton and Elizabeth his wife late widow of Richard Doggett against George Doggett, the successor executor of Richard's will. The case was evidently settled out of court and was dismissed on 12 Aug 1730, with neither party appearing in court. . . Richard's [Doggett] will provided that if Elizabeth should remarry his son George would succeed her as executor. On 8 Mar 1726/7, George was appointed executor in place of Elizabeth, and on 14 June 1727 a new inventory of the estate was filed." Letter from John Augustine Washington to Ann Pamela Cunningham, 13 March 1858, agreeing to sell Mount Vernon to the Association (see transcription below):

Mount Vernon, March 13th, 1858

To A "Southern Matron"

Madam

Your letter of March 12th has been received in which you inform me that the bill providing for the purchase of Mount Vernon by Virginia, has been defeated in the House of Delegates— and in the name and on behalf of the Mount Vernon Association you renew your offer to purchase this place.

Heretofore I have only been willing to dispose of Mount Vernon to the United States or to Virginia as I believed that in the hands of one or the other it would be better protected and preserved than in the possession of any individual or association. The events of the past seven years however, seem to indicate that neither Virginia nor the United States wish to acquire the place.

Under the circumstances, and believing that after the two highest powers in our country the Women of the land will probably be the safest as they will certainly be the purest guardians of a national shrine, I am willing so far to comply with your request as to await for a seasonably limited period of time the propositions you may wish to make to me on behalf of the Association over which you preside. And I assure you that unless these proposals are inconsistent with what I believe to be my duties upon the occasion

I shall be inclined to give them the most favorable consideration. With assurances of the highest respect

I have the honor to be your obdt. servt.

John A. Washington

30. ADOLPHUS FREDERICK⁹ HUBBARD (EPHRAIM⁸, ELIZABETH⁷ BOATMAN, APPHIA⁶ DOGGETT, ELIZABETH⁵ BUSHROD, RICHARD⁴, RICHARD³, JOHN² BUSHROT, BUSHROT¹) was born Abt. 1785 in Warren Co., KY, and died Aft. 1826 in Quincy, Adam's Co., IL. He married MRS. A. F. HUBBARD Abt. 1800 in Warren Co., KY.

Notes for ADOLPHUS FREDERICK HUBBARD:

Legislators of Gallatin County: 1818 Adolpus F. Hubbard (Gallatin County - Gateway to Illinois, p 58, Lucille Lawler, Internet)

Index to Politicians: Hubbard: "Hubbard, Adolphus F. - Delegate to Illinois state constitutional convention 1818; President Elector from Illinois, 1820; Lieutenant Governor of Illinois, 1822-1826; candidate for Governor of Illinois, 1826. Burial unknown." (Political Graveyard, Internet)

"Adolphus F. Hubbard was an early corner to Shawneetown. He was a lawyer, pro-slavery advocate, member of the General ASsembly, and was chosen lieutenant-governor for the term 1822-1826. In 1826 he was a candidate for governor. ('Illinois, The Heart of the Nation', by Hon. Edward F. Dunne, Volume IV, 1933, Transcribed by Kim Torp)." (Misc. Biography Index, Illinois Trails, Internet)

"Thomas Sloo, Jr. . . was a candidate for governor of Illinois in 1826. He got beat by Ninian Edwards by a very few votes. And it's interesting because they said there was another goofy-like fellow from Shawneetown. I don't know if the Hubbards would feel very flattered, but there was an Adolphus Hubbard who ran against him." (Lucy Lawler Memoir, Oral History Office, Sangamon State University, Springfield, IL)

Illinois Political race of May 1822: "In the race for Lieutenant governor a pro-slavery candidate, Adolphus Hubbard, narrowly beat out two anti-slavery candidates, James Lemen, Jr. and John Lofton. Hubbard got 3114 votes to Lemen's 2970 and Lofton's 1494. If we add Lemen's to Lofton's votes we get a substantial anti-slavery majority." (The Man Who Freed His Slaves, A Narrative of the Life of Edward Coles, Chap. 19, Nicholas Gordon, Internet)

Hubbard Adolphus F.: 1 Dec 1814, residing Gallatin Co., purchase 160.69 acres in Gallatin Co., IL (Vol 86, p 59): 20 May 1819, residing Gallatin Co., purchased 160 acres Franklin Co., IL (vol 88, p 731) (Illinois Public Domain Land Tract Sales Database, Internet)

Historical and Statistical, Lt. Gov. A.F. Hubbard (1895), pp 333-336, John Moses: "No history of Gov. Coles administration [1822-1826] would be complete which failed to mention the part taken therein by the lieutenant-governor. The name of this shining light in the political firmament of those days was Frederick Adolphus Hubbard, and Shawneetown enjoyed the distinct ob of being his place of residence. . . From this time forward the name of the Honorable Adolphus disappears from the page of history; but though 'lost to sight it will long remain to memory dear,' as an illustration of that peculiar class of men which was the outgrowth of the primitive times in which he lived." (Gallatin Co., Illinois Folklore, Genealogy and History Site: Illinois, Internet)

Adams Co., IL -- "The Adams County Bar. In the course of some biographical sketches in his 'Reminiscences of Quincy,' published in 1882, the late Henry Aabury gives this paragraph concerning lawyers: 'Our earliest lawyers here before 1831 were. . . Adolphus Hubbard, who became lieutenant governor, his remains lying in the present courthouse square.'" (Past and Present of Adams County [Illinois], p 272, Ancestry.com database0

Notes for WILLIAM JEFFERSON GATEWOOD:

"William Jefferson Gatewood was born in Warren County, Kentucky. . .he had lived in what is now Franklin Co., Ill. and in Shawneetown -- was a school teacher, lawyer, member of House of Reps, and four times a State Senator." (Booklet: Commemorating One Hundreth Anniversary 1837-1937 Equality Lodge No. 2, AF & AM Equality, IL, from Family Letters, p 8)

"William Jefferson Gatewood was continuously in the Senate until the time of his sudden death. . .in the Legislature, in 1842. He died on the floor of the Senate -- due to a heart attack, and was buried at Springfield." (A Brief History of Equality, Illinois, Gallatin Co. Historical Society, p 17, V.H. Crest, great-grandson of W.J. Gatewood and archivist for Gallatin Co. Historical Society)

"William Gatewood of Equality was a friend of Abraham Lincoln, as he served in the Illinois Senate for the time that Lincoln had been in the House of Representatives. . .When Gatewood died early in 1842, Lincoln was the one who announced his death at ceremonies in the Supreme Courte. . .Gatewood had been a trustee of the Gallatin Academy which had been established at Equality by the Reverend Benjamin F. spillman in 1836." (Gallatin County - Gateway to Illinois, p 85, Lucine Bender)

Gatewood "was the son of William Jefferson Gatewood, a native of Kentucky, and of Elewisa A.R. Hubbard. They had married in Gallatin County Dec. 5, 1828. In 1830 the elder Gatewood was elected to the Illinois State Legislature. He became a friend of a young Whig elected to the legislature in 1834, named Abraham Lincoln. When Gatewood died in 1842, Lincoln made the formal announcement of his death in memorial services in the Illinois Supreme Court chambers." (The San Diego Union, Centennial Edition, 10 Oct 1968, Joe Stone, p X-4)

"The Addenda: It may be of interest to the reader to note the names of the men of state reputation, who, though not residents of Springfield, died and were buried here. First among these was William J. Gatewood, an able lawyer and state senator from Gallatin county, who died in January, 1842, and was interred in the northeast part of the old City cemetery." (Past and Present, Sangamon Co., Illinois, Vol I, Chapt 3, Prominent and Illustrious Dead of the City of Springfield, Joseph Wallace, M.A.)

"At meeting of bar members in Supreme Court room, Lincoln announces death of William J. Gatewood. On his motion, Henry Eddy is chosen chairman. James Shields addresses meeting and offers resolutions of condolence. On motion of Lincoln, meeting adjourns." (Sangamo Journal, 14 January 1842)

Buried in Springfield, IL, northeast part of the old City cemetery.

Gatewood, William Jefferson, Age 36 yrs, attorney at law, resident San Andreas (notation "Removed Aug 31, 1868") (Great Register of Voters, 1866-1888, Ancestry.com database) -- NOTE: San Andreas, Calaveras Co., CA

1880 US Fed Census, San Diego, San Diego Co., CA --
"W.J. Gatewood", b. IL, 50 yrs old, occupation: lawyer

"William Jefferson 'Jeff' Gatewood" -- "He was 33 years old in October of 1868, a lawyer whose father had been an associate of Abraham Lincoln during the martyred president's early years. Gatewood had read his law in Illinois, had served briefly in the war with Mexico in 1847, had joined the mad rush for gold in 1849 at California's Mother Lode, and had later served as district attorney in Calaveras County. He is still best known there for a duel he fought in 1859 in which the county coroner, a Virginian and violent Southern sympathizer, was killed. Gatewood is still listed on the Union-Tribune's editorial page as founder even though he spent only six months on the paper after its beginning. . . Among San Diego's business leaders was a merchant named Philip Crosthwaite whose half-sister lived in San Andreas and was married to Gatewood. . . Crosthwaite would visit his sister and also convince Gatewood to move his Register to San Diego. . . Gatewood agreed to move. . . the Register to San Diego. He was also to get financial support if he stayed in Old San Diego. . . for a year, although the facts of how much and from whom are not recorded. . . Gatewood agreed the new paper would be non-political. . . No copy of this contract survives, if it was written and not oral. But The Union expressed no political opinions during its first year." (The San Diego Union-Tribune, 125 Years: A city and its newspaper grew up together, 10 Oct 1993 Sunday, Alfred Jacoby)

"He was known as Col. William Jeff Gatewood and he hailed from San Andreas, in the gold-mining country of Northern California. There he published the San Andreas Register but he had taken sides in bitter political feuds and business was not good. He had killed a man in a duel and he was ready for a new field. Gatewood's wife was the sister of Philip Crosthwaite of San Diego. Crosthwaite induced Gatewood to visit San Diego and Gatewood liked the town. Gatewood returned to San Andreas, formed a partnership with Edward W. Bushyhead, a printer, and together they moved printing equipment to San Diego. They hired J. N. Briseno to work for them. . . Gatewood kept his resolve to be a neutral in San Diego politics but he did take part in the rivalry of Old Town, the original settlement, and New Town, the up-and-coming real estate project of Alonzo E. Horton. . . Gatewood favored staying in Old Town. Bushyhead, who didn't like Old Town, favored New Town. . . Gatewood sold out to Charles P. Taggart and turned to his former profession of law." (The San Diego Union, Centennial Edition, 10 October 1968, Arthur W. Spencer, p X-2)

"Before his marriage to Mary Crosthwaite he lost in competition for the hand of a San Andreas girl. He is said to have practiced law for two years with Charles Hemstead, Mary Crosthwaite's half brother, of Salt Lake City. He served as district attorney of Calaveras County. In 1859 Gatewood had an argument with a San Andreas physician, Dr. Peterson Goodwyn over Col. E. D. Baker, a spellbinding abolitionist orator who had appeared in the town. Goodwyn called Gatewood a liar, Gatewood knocked him down, Goodwyn challenged Gatewood to a duel. There is every indication Gatewood tried to get out of it, but the doctor's demands were too much even for Mary Gatewood. She bought a bullet and gave it to her husband to show she was with him in the fight. At 40 paces, with a rifle, Gatewood shot and fatally wounded Goodwyn. The attorney was with The Union only from its founding in the fall of 1868 to the spring of 1869. He sold his interest to Charles P. Taggart then. . . As a lawyer he handled most of the criminal work here for many years. . . He was city attorney from 1874 to 1876, resigning because of ill health. The oldest document on file with the County Law Library is a brief written by Gatewood. The union reported that on Oct. 1, 1871, Gatewood and his wife Mary celebrated their 14th wedding anniversary in the Old Town home of Under Sheriff Crosthwaite and that Don Miguel de Pecos was there. Gatewood and Mary never had children. She died Aug. 27, 1881. Gatewood died during the early morning of March 26, 1888, and the fuzzy and confused reporting that has characterized his story from the beginning until now was apparent. The Union reported he died on his schooner, the Rosita, and that he was about 55. The Daily Bee reported he died aboard the yacht Queen at the foot of a Street and that he was not quite 58. The graves of Gatewood and his wife Mary are in Mt. Hope Cemetery not far from the spire which marks the burial site of Alonzo E. Horton. Their graves are unmarked." (The San Diego Union, Centennial Edition, 10 October 1968, Joe Stone, p X-4)

1882 broke leg severely above ankle at wharf when stepping from carriage -- died on his schooner "Rosita" in San Diego Harbor of heart attack after several days of illness

"Another Pioneer Gone: The telegraph on Tuesday last announced the death, in San Diego, of W. Jeff Gatewood, a pioneer citizen of California. . . In early manhood Mr. Gatewood became a resident of Calaveras county, and for many years was prominently identified with public, social and professional life there. . . he left Calaveras and took up his residence in San Diego, where he spent the remainder of his days under adverse fortune and physical and mental suffering. Mr. Gatewood, with whatever faults he had, were ever a true, generous, large-souled man, and commanded the confidence and affection of those who knew him. Peace and rest be with him. -- Stockton Record." (Calaveras Prospect, 13 Apr 1888)
